How did you hear about the Canadian School of Peacebuilding? _____

Registration Mode: You may register either for training (lower tuition) or to earn university credit (regular tuition). If you are a graduate student, you may register for "Poets, Prophets and Music of Social Justice", "Mennonite Approaches to Peace and Justice" and "Thriving in a Firestorm: Congregational Peacebuilding" at the graduate level.

 I wish to register for training I wish to earn university credit (three credit hours per course) Undergraduate credit (see note # 1 below) Undergraduate credit as a visiting undergraduate student from _____ . Please arrange with your home institution to send a letter of permission. Graduate credit (see note # 2 below) Graduate credit as a visiting graduate student from _____ . Please arrange with your home institution to send a letter of permission. (see note # 3 below)

1. If you have not been admitted to CMU previously as a regular undergraduate student, you may be admitted on the basis of this application as a Continuing Education student. To be eligible for admission with this status, you must have completed grade twelve and attained the age of twenty-one at the time of application. Students with Continuing Education status may sample up to twelve credit hours of courses, after which it will be necessary to apply to become a regular student.

2. If you have not been admitted to CMU as a regular graduate student, you must submit together with this form an official transcript showing that you have completed a baccalaureate degree with a grade point average of 3.0 or higher. You will then be eligible for admission as an Unclassified Graduate student.

3. If you have already been attending CMU graduate courses as a visiting student from AMBS or MBBS, you do not need a letter of permission.

Please indicate the courses for which you are applying (maximum 1 course/session). Use a "T" if you plan to take a course for training, and a "C" if you plan to take a course for credit.
